Royal Academy of Science International Trust (RASIT) Launches New Middle East & North Africa Regional Office

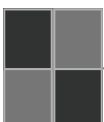

The Royal Academy of Science International Trust (RASIT) has the great pleasure to announce the opening of RASIT Middle East & North Africa Regional Office within Lebanon, since July 2011, that shall be known at all times by the name of: “RASIT MENA Regional Office”, for the implementation of all RASIT Programs, which shall enhance the development of research, education, economy, medicine, and professions and narrow the gap of differences through communication.

Speaking of this Occasion, HRH Dr. Princess Nisreen El-Hashemite, the Executive Director of RASIT, stated:

As RASIT celebrates thy 42 years of serving education & humanity, we look back with pride on our achievements in the region. But much more importantly, we look forward to the upcoming years and to working closely with Arab Youth and Professionals for the improvement of science, education and health systems through out of MENA Region in order to reach sustainable healthy economic growth among the Arab Community. RASIT has been for the last two decades present within MENA Region, particularly in Lebanon, and focused on critical issues such as: popularization of science, integrated health, higher education, women in science, youth empowerment and humanitarian aid. Therefore, RASIT opened its MENA Regional Office in order to hear you all and to work with you all holding hand in hand together as we continue in our mission to serve humanity.

Finally, RASIT is thrilled with all its members' efforts and high quality of public service through its MENA Regional Office that is located at: Safei El-Din & Sabah Building, 4th floor, Verdun, Beirut, Republic of Lebanon.
